MUDA scam investigation widens

Former Chairmen, KAS, IAS Officers under ED radar

Bengaluru, Oct. 22 (KMS& BCT)- The Enforcement Directorate (ED) is poised to issue notices to IAS Officers, three KAS Officers, 12 officials of various ranks and a former Chairman of MUDA concerning the illegal allotment of sites under the controversial 50:50 scheme.

Highly placed sources informed Star of Mysore that the ED intends to interrogate these officials as part of its ongoing investigation, which is based on the Enforcement Case Information Report (ECIR) registered under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA) against Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, his wife B.M. Parvathi and others.

The investigation specifically targets the allotment of 14 MUDA sites to Parvathi in Vijayanagar Third and Fourth Stages, allegedly in exchange for her 3.16-acre land in Kesare.

Since 2004, irregularities in MUDA's site allotments have raised concerns and the ED has acquired vital documents demonstrating these illegalities. Recently, the agency conducted raids on MUDA and Taluk offices, seizing crucial records related to the illegal distributions.

In the light of this information, the ED is preparing to send notices to key figures, including former and current IAS Officers, three KAS Officers and officials from MUDA, Revenue and Registrations. Retired IAS Officers and former Chairmen who previously led MUDA are also expected to be questioned.

Probe agency finds IRREGULARITIES since 2004

High-level sources suggest that after gathering explanations from these individuals, ED plans to target politicians who have meddled in MUDA's operations.

During the raids, ED obtained necessary documents for the investigation, particularly focusing on from 2013 to 2018, as well as last year and four months, which was previously inaccessible.

The probe agency has managed to secure original records using advanced technology, despite attempts by involved officials to obstruct the process. Preliminary scrutiny of these documents revealed a blatant disregard for law by some officials who distributed sites and parcels of land with impunity.

Additionally, the ED has obtained records related to the 14 sites acquired by Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's family. Beyond MUDA, the agency has seized documents related to land acquisition and registration from local Tahsildar and Sub-Registrar Offices, further broadening the scope of its investigation.

Mysuru Deputy Commissioner takes charge as MUDA Chairman

Mysuru, Oct. 22 (RK&BCT)- Deputy Commissioner of Mysuru G. Lakshmikanth Reddy, has officially taken over as the Chairman of Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA). The notification confirming his appointment was issued on Oct. 21 and Reddy assumed office this noon.

Reddy's appointment follows the resignation of K. Marigowda, which was submitted on Oct. 16 and subsequently accepted by the State Government. This leadership change occurs amid ongoing investigations by the Enforcement Directorate (ED), Lokayukta and a One-Man Judicial Commission led by retired Karnataka High Court Justice P.N. Desai, focusing on irregularities in site allotments.

Correspondence can be directed to:

G. Lakshmikanth Reddy,
Chairman, MUDA, JLB Road, Mysuru - 570005.
For assistance, contact MUDA Office on Ph: 0821-2420553, send a fax to 0821-2429933, or email: chairman@muda-mysore.gov.in

Lakshmikanth Reddy is anticipated to address the grievances of the public, whose work has come to a standstill amid the controversies that erupted in July this year.

In a notification released this morning, the new MUDA Chairman encouraged the public to send him documents related to public intervention and issues requiring his personal attention.

SC STEPS IN TO PROTECT JOURNALISTS: The recent Supreme Court (SC) ruling that criminal cases should not be registered against journalists merely because their writings are perceived as criticism of the government is a positive development for press freedom in India and the world's largest democracy. Notably, the ruling emphasised that such actions violate the journalists' fundamental right to free speech.

A two-Judge Bench, on October 4, passed the judicial order while barring the Uttar Pradesh Police from taking coercive action against journalist Abhishek Upadhyay for his article on caste dynamics in bureaucrat appointments in the State.

"In democratic nations, freedom to express one's views is respected. The rights of the journalists are protected under Article 19(1)(a) of the Constitution of India," the bench of Justice Hrishikesh Roy and Justice S V N Bhatti said. "Merely because the writings of a journalist are perceived as criticism of the government, criminal cases should not be slapped against the writer."

The ruling is timely and laudable, serving as a reminder to reflect on the dismal state of press freedom in India and the challenges journalists face.

In recent years, media professionals have been routinely obstructed from performing their duties through intimidation, raids on newsrooms, Police interrogation, notices, detention, First Information Reports, arrests and even physical assaults. In Kashmir, journalists have been booked under the draconian Unlawful Activities Prevention Act.

It is a sad irony that despite being the largest democracy, with Constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech and expression and a diverse media landscape, Indian journalists are constantly harassed and threatened.

As we move ahead, it is hoped that not only the government but also citizens realise the vital role of a strong and independent media so essential for good governance and social progress in a democracy. The least they can do is allow journalists to do their work of reporting without having to face constant press freedom violations, violence, threats, arrests, deaths and other impediments.

On its part, the historically free and vibrant press in India must strive relentlessly to remain independent and impartial, speak truth to power, and not bow down to pulls and pressures. Only then can it truly be the country's fourth estate.

Lastly, the Supreme Court should be commended for its free and fair verdict in upholding press freedom. Such rulings provide the citizens with the guarantee that justice is carried out impartially, reinforcing their trust and confidence in the judiciary. —Stanley Carvalho in Deccan Herald

Aquarium sparks controversy over robotic shark

Shenzhen: An aquarium has attracted a lot of criticism for replacing a real whale shark with a life-size robotic version that emulates both the look and the movements of the marine animal.

On October 1, Xiaomeisha Sea World in Shenzhen, China, reopened its gates to visitors after a five-year hiatus for renovations. The 60,000-square-meter marine park managed to attract around 1,00,000 paying visitors in its first week, but that financial success was overshadowed by the controversy around one of the new attractions, a robotic whale shark.

According to several Chinese news sources, many visitors were disappointed to see that the whale shark swimming in the large aquarium around them was man-made and not the real deal, especially since Xiaomeisha Sea World made no effort to inform them beforehand that it had no real sharks.

Scammers operate fake SBI for 10 days

Raipur: Scammers managed to set up and operate a fake bank branch, the State Bank of India (SBI), for 10 days in order to trick people into paying to secure jobs there.

The people of Chhapora, a village in Chhattisgarh, were surprised to see a SBI branch opening up in their village. While some were skeptical from the very beginning, many saw it as an opportunity to get a stable job. 25-year-old Pintu Dhurve was one of the six people who managed to secure employment as a cashier, for which he paid Rs. 5,80,000. The SBI logo, the 1000 sq. foot "workspace", brand-new furnishings and operational bank counters all convinced him that the bank was legit. But it wasn't!

Local man, Ajay Kumar Agrawal, filed a complaint with the local Police about the new bank following which the truth came to light.

Make Cheluvamba Park more senior citizen-friendly

Sir,

I am a frequent morning walker in the good old Cheluvamba Park since a few years. The walkers are mainly elder and super elder citizens, some well past 80 years. The park which has been in existence for a long period needs some more upkeep. The following are the issues to be addressed:

a) Inside the park, paths on the southern and western side are full of stones jetting out of the surface and many people have tripped and fallen.

b) There is a need for a wicket gate adjacent to the big decorative but non-functioning gate towards Yadavagiri Circle. This big gate is kept locked always and cannot be used for any vehicle to pass as it is above the level of paved footpath.

c) Dried up branches of trees need to be chopped.

d) The ever unsolved dog menace — I see the sentry going round the park on his bicycle chasing them away but they happily loiter in and out as some animal lovers feed them.

e) There is a small stretch of paved footpath on the Yadavagiri side where rain water doesn't get seeped into the earth as seen in the picture. The tiles need to be relaid here.

I request the authorities to take necessary measures to make the park more senior citizen friendly.

Echo of ED, Lokayukta investigations

Anger erupts as MUDA public services paralysed

Mysuru, Oct. 22 (BLU&BCT)- Public protests flared up outside the Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) Office yesterday as citizens expressed outrage over the suspension of crucial services like site registration and house plan approvals. The disruption stems from ongoing investigations into site allotment irregularities by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) and Mysuru Lokayukta.

Protesters claimed that the daily presence of Lokayukta and ED officials, probing illegal site allocations to influential politicians, has paralysed the MUDA Office. Public access has been blocked, with Police and CRPF personnel guarding the entrance, preventing citizens from entering the premises.

A security cordon has been established under the guise of preventing interference with the investigation, halting vital public services such as site registrations and house plan approvals. This has only fuelled public anger.

Many protesters voiced their frustration, pointing out the irony of having Siddaramaiah, a fellow Mysurean, as Chief Minister, while their essential work at MUDA has been frozen due to investigations involving cases linked to him.

Shivakumar, one of the frustrated protestors, voiced his anger, stating that for nearly two months, MUDA has been in a state of paralysis with no public services moving forward. "Every day we are hitting a dead end," he lamented.

He further explained, "We have no objection to the ED or Lokayukta carrying out their investigations, but they must ensure their actions don't cause hardships for the public. When we tried to present our grievances to the MUDA Commissioner, we were blocked at the gate. Now, whom do we approach with our issues?"

The protestors underscored their support for the investigations but stressed that public services should not be held hostage. They issued a warning that if the current situation persists, they will be forced to escalate their protest with greater intensity.

Meanwhile, even after the ED officials wrapped up their nearly two-day investigation, the MUDA Office remains eerily quiet. No matter which room one visits in the MUDA Office, emptiness greets visitors. Officer and staff desks are vacant.

By afternoon, the usual hustle and bustle of the MUDA Office had vanished. During the ED investigation, officers and staff were running around to provide the requested documents. Today, however, it seems as though they have all retreated for a break, reflecting the current state of the MUDA Office.

T.J. Abraham meets Guv seeking dismissal of AG over inaction

Bengaluru, Oct. 22 (Agencies)- Social activist and one of the petitioners in the Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) case T.J. Abraham met Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot yesterday and submitted a petition demanding dismissal of the Advocate General (AG) and urging swift action on a petition against Housing Minister B.Z. Zameer Ahmed Khan.

The petition pertains to the lack of action on comments made by Zameer Ahmed regarding a High Court judgement in the MUDA case. Abraham stated, "I have requested a directive to expedite the petition for criminal prosecution sanction against Minister Zameer Ahmed Khan for contempt of Court, which is currently pending before the AG."

The demand stems from Zameer's controversial statement calling the High Court's ruling in Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's case a "political judgement."

Abraham

Gehlot

The High Court had upheld consent for prosecution against Siddaramaiah in the MUDA case. Abraham further called for the dismissal of the Advocate General under Article 165 of the Constitution, accusing him of shielding Zameer by not granting the necessary sanction for prosecution.

Abraham revealed that he had applied to the AG to start criminal proceedings against Zameer for his contemptuous remarks, but the AG is yet to respond.

Karnataka HC rejects bail plea of former MP Prajwal Revanna

Bengaluru, Oct. 22 (Agencies)- The Karnataka High Court (HC) yesterday dismissed one bail plea and two anticipatory bail pleas filed by former JD(S) MP Prajwal Revanna in connection with two rape cases and one case of sexual harassment filed against him. A High Court Bench, headed by Justice M. Nagaprasanna rejected the three pleas.

"Prima facie, the alleged acts of the petitioner depicts, wanton lust, depravity of senses and has a chilling effect down the spine of the society," the High Court observed while rejecting an anticipatory bail plea by Prajwal Revanna in a case filed by a former housemaid at his home.

"It is made clear that the observations made in the course of order are only for the purpose of consideration of the case of the petitioner for grant of anticipatory bail and the same will not bind or influence any other pending proceeding," the HC also stated.

Prajwal

The former MP had sought bail in three cases of rape and sexual harassment where a charge-sheet has been filed. The HC observed that the Supreme Court has laid down "eight postulates" for considering an application for bail such as "whether there is prima facie reason to believe that the accused has committed the offence; nature and gravity of the accusation; severity of punishment; likelihood of the offence being repeated; witnesses being threatened or influenced; and justice being thwarted."

"In the considered view of the Court, all the postulates would run against the petitioner for denial of bail," the HC said.

Rain pounds Mysuru, disrupts normal life

Students, office-goers, roadside vendors bear the brunt; dwellers of low-lying areas severely affected

Mysuru, Oct.22 (BLU,SBD& BS)- The impact of low-pressure system formed over Bay of Bengal was heavily felt on Monday evening, as heavy rain pounded the city, bringing normal life to a standstill.

Though the weather was gloomy in the day, the sun came on the top frequently. However, parts of the city received rainfall from 10.15 am to 12 noon, leaving especially the school and college students and office goers in a fix. Though the rain stopped, there was no reprieve from the cold breeze that was followed by formation of the clouds casting a dark spell at about 4.30 pm. It was followed by thunderstorms and copious rainfall for about half-an-hour.

Riders, pedestrians

Two-wheeler riders and pedestrians, who were caught off-guard, had to struggle to wade through the water-logged roads. The movement of autorickshaws, car and other Light Motor Vehicles (LMVs) among other vehicles, were largely affected. The roadside vendors had to bear the brunt, while the condition of school and college students who were returning home was too pathetic. Those returning home from the office had to struggle reaching home.

Water-logged markets

Chikkagadiyara area was partially submerged in water, while the storm water gushed into the nearby Devaraja Market affecting the traders to a larger extent. The vendors of cement bricks and other articles had no other option than selling their products amid water, with customers too having no qualms over the situation. The vegetable vendors at M.G. Road market and other road sides, were largely affected, as efforts made to save vegetables and greens kept for sale, by covering them with plastic sheets, went in vain. A large quantity of vegetables was swept away in water.

Circle resembled pool

The Agrahara Circle that connects Vani Vilas Road, Thyagaraja Road and the road leading towards 101 Ganapathi Temple, had turned into a pool of water, as storm water that flowed towards the Circle got accumulated. Similar was the situation near Silver Jubilee Clock Tower, Seshadri Iyer Road near private bus stand, petrol bunk on Dhanvantri Road and also K.R. Circle.

Low lying area near Gokul Theatre junction on KRS Road was also water-logged hampering the smooth flow of traffic. As the vehicles had piled up in large numbers, it led to traffic jam. Ambulances moving towards Jayadeva Hospital, District Hospital and Trauma Care Centre on KRS Road were also stranded amid the busy traffic.

As the intensity of rainfall receded, rain water gradually reduced, with motorists heaving a sigh of relief.

Low-lying areas in water

The residents of low-lying areas like Medar Block, Sunnadakeri, Udayagiri, Ghousianagar, Sathagalli and other localities were caught in a harrowing situation, with rain water gushing inside their houses, damaging household articles, forcing them to drain out water using vessels.

Sewage water had gushed into about 40 houses in Sunnadakeri alone and the troubled residents vented their anger on the officials, blaming them for unscientific works while laying UGD pipeline in the narrow lane.

Rivulets recharged at Chamundi Hill

The rivulets at Chamundi Hill in city, that come to life during heavy rainfall, were flowing down from various places, reflecting the intensity of the downpour.

Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Commissioner Ashaad-Ur-Rahman Shariff and other officials visited the spot.

Food stall comes crashing

Mysuru, Oct. 22 (MK&BS)- A food stall at Dasara Exhibition Grounds in city, came crashing down due to heavy rainfall yesterday. Fortunately, no casualty was reported.

Following heavy rains, the Dasara Expo has been partially affected, with Mallige Idli stall collapsing during the downpour. About 15 workers inside the stall had a providential escape. Some other sheds too were damaged, with electric lines falling to the ground.

Karnataka Exhibition Authority (KEA) Chairman Ayub Khan, Chief Executive Officer (CEO) Rudresh and the contractor rushed to the spot and collected information from the stall owner. They also assured to bear the financial loss.

As the power lines had snapped and fallen to the ground, KEA authorities shut the main gate as a precautionary measure, suspending entry to the expo for the day. Those who had already entered the expo, had to return home disappointed.

Speaking to media persons, KEA CEO Rudresh said, 'The Idli stall was built separately, that has fallen now due to heavy wind and rain. Fortunately, there was no harm to any lives. The cooking utensils have been shifted. A decision regarding compensating the stall owner, will be taken during a meeting with KEA Chairman today. With all stalls insured, they will be benefited."

Stall owner Nathik Ahmed of Royal Traders estimated losses to Rs. 15 lakh including the expenses on building the stall. The KEA has assured to help and the stall will be rebuilt in a day or two, he added.

KEA Chairman Ayub Khan said, following heavy wind and rain, the expo was closed for a day. Normalcy has been restored with water drained out of the premises. The business will resume as usual from today 3 pm and people can visit the expo.

IMD predicts heavy rains in coming days

With low pressure system moving towards Bay of Bengal from Arabian Sea through the coastal area of Sri Lanka, that will lead to the emergence of Cyclone Dana, heavy rainfall is predicted in Mysuru, Mandya, Kodagu, Chamarajanagar, Hassan and several other districts in the coming days too, according to India Meteorological Department (IMD).

The cyclone is likely to make a landfall at Odisha and West Bengal on Oct. 24, that may aggravate the current rainy situation in Mysuru and surrounding districts like Chamarajanagar, Mandya, Kodagu, Ramanagara, Bengaluru, Kolar, Chikkamagalur, Tumakuru and Chitradurga districts, forming South Interior districts of the State, till Oct. 25.

1,000 MM rain possible in district this year

Ganjifa Raghupathi Bhat

While in Mumbai in the 1960s and 1970s, I have had contacts with a few fine artists, painters and commercial artists. Sometimes we would meet up in the studios or in Samovar, a restaurant in Jehangir Art Gallery at Kala Ghoda, South Mumbai (then Bombay).

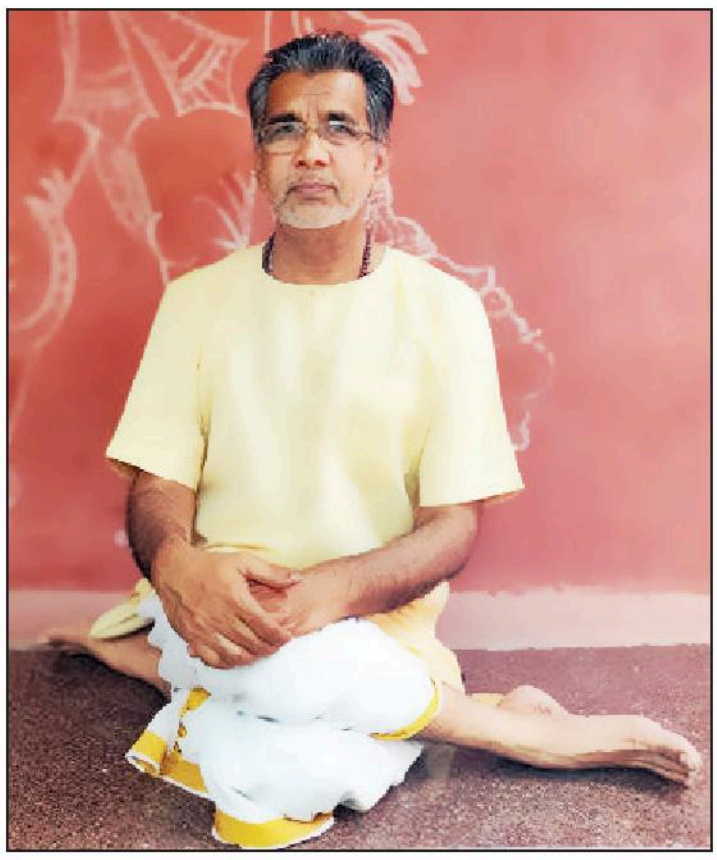
It was an experience by itself — watching these artists at work, the way they handle the brush dripping with paint, their movement — moving close to the easel and the next moment moving away, taking a drag at the cigarette, quizzically looking at those present with a smile for no reason... No end to the dance of creation of an art piece. Time stands still when an artist works on his creation.

When I came in contact with Ganjifa Raghupathi Bhat in Mysuru, I recalled those days whenever I visited his studio on Chamundi Hill Temple Road in K.C. Nagar, Mysuru. Artists, it is generally perceived, are introverts or eccentrics with their own idiosyncrasies. Some are recluses, on their own creative trip.

However, I found Raghupathi Bhat to be out of these traps. A matured person, humble, gentle, soft-spoken, pursuing his art passionately even when he is not commissioned a work. He would paint his Gods and Goddesses for his own pleasure.

In all his works, one can find his own unique signature which any art connoisseur can identify at the first look itself. His line drawings of Rishi-Munis and divine characters are magical.

Many do not know that this signature identity of his works has extended to the area of calligraphy also where he has transformed the Kannada script into a visual delight and a wonder. This could be seen in some of his paintings where a description of the artwork is given in Kannada calligraphy. The calligraphy in flowing lines intertwines itself like a tender creeper that a serious viewer would want to decipher the text.



Ganjifa Raghupathi Bhat

His work is a distraction to those who are used to seeing the traditional or modern abstract paintings. Some may think it is a gimmick with dancing lines and subdued colours. As one patron of his art told me, his work is an offering to the immortal Gods and Goddesses that are found in the Hindu pantheon. It has the flavour of the eternal religion of this soil where he lives and works.

According to my understanding of his work, Ganjifa Raghupathi Bhat is like an Ayurvedic doctor in the world full of Allopathic doctors! He makes his own brush, his own organic colours, gums, etc., except the canvas or the material on which he paints.

For Bhat, each of his paintings is an offering to the Gods of Sanatana Dharma — from the Vedas to the Epics and Puranas. Hence, one needs some knowledge of Hindu religion to appreciate his art.

As Dr. N. Sjoman, a Canadian artist and a Sanskrit Scholar says, 'There is an inner light, a spiritual-divine light, in Ganjifa Raghupathi Bhat's paintings.'

Ganjifa Raghupathi Bhat seen receiving the National Award from the President of India Shankar Dayal Sharma in 1992.

Yesterday, writing in this column about Raghupathi Bhat, I had mentioned about our Government's apathy towards such arts and artists when Government's support is most needed. I had quoted Dr. U.R. Ananthamurthy to make this point. And in the case of Raghupathi Bhat, he had to undergo an ordeal by fire and brimstone under our State Government for no fault of his. He was dragged into a Lokayukta case by venal Lokayukta Police SP and an extortionist complainant.

When Raghupathi Bhat was minding his own business and everything was hunky-dory for him, he was requested to undertake the gold-leafing work of the Durbar Hall pillars of the Amba Vilas Palace by the Mysore Palace Board as it could not find a right person to do this specialised work. And the Palace Board wanted this work done urgently in 2012 for the Centenary Celebrations of Mysore Palace.

His mental torture and personal harassment began soon after he completed his work to everybody's satisfaction. The vested interests and blackmailers found an opportunity for extortion. One agriculturist from Nanjangud, who has no knowledge of gold-leafing, much less of artists, files a complaint with Lokayukta about the poor quality of gold-leafing work and of financial irregularity against the Deputy Director of the Palace Board T.S. Subramanya and other nine, including Bhat.

This turned out to be a golden opportunity for our venal Police and Government Officers. Bhat was the 10th accused in the FIR as if it was an afterthought.

To cut a long story of intimidation and nightmare short, the case ended with a 'B' Report after 10 long years. But the damage to innocent "accused" persons was already done. During the long period, when the case was pending, some 'accused' government officers lost their promotions and increments while Raghupathi Bhat's creative output came under a shadow. He lived under great stress and anxiety because of demands made on him by the Director, NRLC, Lucknow and the Lokayukta Police Officer. It became so unbearable that he threatened to go on a dharna and hunger strike in front of the Office of the Superintendent of Police (SP). He even lost the opportunity of getting the Rajyotsava Award when B.S. Yediyurappa was the Chief Minister.

A call came from the Officer of the Kannada and Culture Department in the evening about the award but the next morning he was informed that it was a mistake. In retrospect, one could trace the reason to the pending case.

Let us hope that now the case is over, he will be considered for the State Rajyotsava Award this year, November, 2024.

Lokayukta & Upalokayukta

Good intentions do not always lead to desired result. Karnataka Lokayukta is a good example. We have seen Lokayuktas who occupied the Office only to enjoy the position.

We have also seen Lokayuktas who were determined to punish the corrupt like Justice N. Venkatachala and Justice N. Santosh Hegde.

And sadly we have also seen Lokayukta like Justice Bhaskar Rao, who allegedly became a partner with the corrupt and had to quit in disgrace. There was Upalokayuktas also, but sans much help for the cause of eradicating corruption with innocents made to suffer like Raghupathi Bhat.

Ayn Rand, the American author, had warned us that when your laws don't protect you against the extortionists and the corrupt, when you see corruption being rewarded and honesty becoming a self-sacrifice (as in the case of Raghupathi Bhat and other 9) you may know your society is doomed.

Coffee prices surge amid climate issues, demand

Bengaluru, Oct. 22 (Agencies)- The impact of extreme climate events — such as unseasonal rains, wildfires and droughts across South Asia and Latin America — is driving coffee prices higher, according to industry experts.

These disruptions, combined with a growing preference for coffee among Indian consumers, are providing a boost to local coffee producers.

In India, demand for coffee has surged, creating a favourable market for farmers in Kodagu and other coffee-growing regions. The Indian Coffee Trade Association (ICTA) has said that there will be an increase in coffee powder prices by Rs. 100 per kilogram, making it inevitable for hotels and cafés to raise their coffee prices.

V. Viggnesh, a coffee industry consultant, noted that local markets are thriving due to this heightened demand. Most growers are successfully selling out their stock each year and enjoying increased profits, eliminating concerns about unsold inventory and reliance on traders.

Indian coffee highly sought after

While global coffee demand continues to rise, production has declined due to various challenges. Indian coffee remains highly sought after and experts emphasise the need to meet this demand.

India produces over 3,50,000 Metric Tonnes (MT) of coffee annually, with 70 percent being Robusta. Of this production, around 1,00,000 MT is consumed domestically. Coffee prices have been on a steady incline since January, with Robusta prices soaring from Rs. 200 per kg to Rs. 420 per kg, and Arabica prices rising from Rs. 290 per kg to Rs. 465 per kg. Climate change has contributed to a 20 percent decline in coffee production.

Experts predict that the rise in coffee prices will continue in the foreseeable future, but caution that this trend may soon reach a tipping point. "Prices will likely plateau in the next two years. If they exceed a certain threshold, the entire value chain could become unaffordable," Viggnesh added.

In 2024, coffee prices — especially for Arabica beans — hit a 13-year high due to ongoing supply disruptions. Prices surged by approximately 40 percent this year as shortages of Robusta, the more affordable coffee bean, led to increased demand for the premium Arabica variety, favoured by specialty coffee chains.

Prices for the cheaper robusta variety, which is also produced by Brazil have also jumped. This, in turn, has left companies and consumers paying for pricier coffee and retailers have been scrambling to secure beans.

Karnataka leads Indian coffee production

India plays a significant role in the global coffee market, primarily producing two varieties: Arabica and Robusta. Arabica, known for its mild, aromatic flavour, is more sought after than Robusta.

Karnataka constitutes approximately 70 percent of the production of coffee in India. Then, comes the State of Kerala accounting for a share of 20 per cent in the production of coffee in India. Tamil Nadu comes third with a 5.7 percent share.

The country's coffee industry has also witnessed export of coffee abroad as an important influence. In the 2023-24 season, India produced 374,200 MT of coffee, with Karnataka contributing 2,66,885 MT.

By V. N. Prasad

City's Dr. Somanath Vasudeva and Dr. Seethalakshmi Somanath are a couple blessed with not only good voice quality but also passion for performing on big stages. Having known the couple since long, I have appreciated their desire to enhance singing skills through dedicated practice; all in spite of their own professional routines as medical doctors that are demanding.

On Sunday, the 20th of October, the couple rendered the music programme titled Gaata Rahe Mera Dil at Rani Bahadur Auditorium, Manasagangothri, Mysuru, to a packed and overflowing audience.

The Karaoke programme consisted of solos and duets of the legendary Kishore Kumar and Lata Mangeshkar. In all, 22 numbers were rendered by the doctor couple.

The concert commenced with the title song "Gaata Rahe Mera Dil..." from the film Guide — story scripted by our own R.K. Narayan.

Both the doctors expressed gratitude to Dr. C. Umesh Kamath and Dr. M. Jagannath Shenoy for their debut in "Geeth Gaatha Chal" — both the art promoters were present.

Dr. Somanath Vasudeva and Dr. Seethalakshmi Somanath.

Making an important announcement, Dr. Kamath invited Dr. Somanath to take over as the Chairman of Geeth Gaatha Chal (GGC) from 2025 onwards with the full support from him and the team. The annual GGC music programme by doctors is sponsored by Dr. Shenoy. Dr. Somanath accepted the responsibility on the spot.

The musical nite was compered by Syed Aftab Ahmad, the popular personality, in his own inimitable style end verve. He kept the audience busy with interesting questions between the songs — all relevant to the movies, composers, situations etc. And, the response from the audience were quick and accurate.

LED coverage of the songs was well-coordinated to add to the mood of the audience. So was the sound system; pleasantly monitored.

Advocates' Forum submits memorandum to CM

Seeks implementation of inner reservation

Mysuru, Oct. 22 (SBD&DM)- Mysuru based Karnataka Samajika Nyayapara Vakeelara Vedike has urged Chief Minister Siddaramaiah to implement inner reservation among SC communities as directed by the Supreme Court.

The vedike members led by its president and senior advocate S. Arunkumar submitted a memorandum to the Chief Minister in this regard here yesterday.

The memorandum said that the Madiga community has been fighting for inner reservation among SC Communities for over three decades. Amidst this, a 7-member bench of the Supreme Court headed by Chief Justice D.Y.Chandrachud on Aug.1 upheld the Constitutional validity of Sub-classification in the SC and ST categories and accordingly, the State Government can go ahead with inner reservation among SC communities. "The previous BJP Government and the current Congress Government, in Cabinet meetings, have agreed to implement the recommendations of the Justice A.J. Sadashiva Commission report on inner reservation. The then BJP Government in 2012 had accepted the Sadashiva Commission report, following which the SC/ST reservation quantum was increased from 18 to 24 percent as proposed by the then Law Minister J.C.Madhuswamy headed committee, with Madigas and other SC sub-castes getting a 6 percent reservation. Now the Congress Government which had promised inner reservation ahead of last year's Assembly polls, should implement the SC ruling and thus render justice by implementing the inner reservation", the memorandum said. Apart from advocate S. Arunkumar, the vedike members Boodittittu Rajendra Shivakumar, Dasaiah, Chandrasenasagar, Mallappa, Vinayak, Surendra and others were present.

C.P. Yogeshwar of BJP quits as MLC

Bengaluru, Oct.22 (DM)- In a sudden political development amidst the tussle between the alliance partners — BJP and JD(S) over the Channapatna bypoll ticket, sitting BJP MLC C.P. Yogeshwar quit as MLC yesterday, much to the surprise of both the BJP and JD(S).

Yogeshwar met Legislative Council Chairman Basavaraj Horatti at Hubballi and tendered his resignation. Yogeshwar, who had been sulking with the JD(S) hell bent on retaining the Channapatna seat for itself, is said to have decided on quitting after being upset over the adamant stand of Union Minister and senior JD(S) leader H.D. Kumaraswamy.

Yogeshwar is said to be determined on contesting the Channapatna bypoll even as an independent candidate if he is not given the alliance ticket.

In the meanwhile, speculations are rife that Yogeshwar, also a former Minister, may contest the Channapatna bypoll on a Congress ticket, with Deputy Chief Minister D.K.Shivakumar, who is also the KPCC President, said to have held informal talks with him.

CM hints at Yogeshwar joining Congress

Mysuru, Oct. 22 (BLU&DM)- Stating that anyone accepting the Congress principles are welcome to the party, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah today gave a subtle hint that disgruntled BJP leader C.P. Yogeshwar, who quit as MLC yesterday, may join the Congress.

Suresh too is under consideration for the Congress ticket for Channapatna bypoll. Pointing out that the KPCC President and D.K. Referring to rain havoc in Bengaluru and other parts of the State, the CM said that the Government is awaiting a report from the authorities on the extent of the damages caused by rains. Pointing out that a survey would be carried out across the state to assess the damages, he said that relief works would be carried out after the completion of survey.

The CM evaded a question on the ED probe in connection with the MUDA scam.

WORD OF THE DAY

Intransigent

Pronunciation: in-TRAN-suh-junt (Adjective)
Meaning: Intransigent is a formal word that describes a person who refuses to compromise or abandon an often extreme position or attitude. It can also describe a thing, such as a system or point of view, that shows the same kind of stubbornness.
Origin: Both intransigent and its younger sibling intransigence come to English from the Spanish adjective intransigente, meaning "uncompromising," and ultimately from the Latin verb transigere, "to come to an agreement." Knowing that many English words with the prefix in- have prefix-less antonyms, one might guess that transigent has its own place in our language. While this word does pop up occasionally in print, it is too uncommon at this point to qualify for entry in our dictionaries. Since intransigent is a Spanish borrowing, English transigent is considered a back-formation–that is, a word formed by subtraction of a real or supposed affix.
Example: "Honey and vinegar, a traditional medicinal combination known as oxymel, dates to the ancient world. Apothecaries in the Middle Ages sold it, Hippocrates prescribed it and the physician-philosopher Ibn-Sīnā extolled its virtues. Today such a mixture sounds likelier to dress a salad than a lesion—but with antibiotic-resistant bacteria on the rise, scientists are eagerly seeking new ways to fight intransigent infections. Now a study in Microbiology suggests oxymel may indeed help." — Leo Deluca, Scientific American, 1 Oct. 2023

THE ODD WORD

Arithmophobia
Fear of numbers.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Dry Run

Meaning: The phrase 'Dry Run' is used to discuss a rehearsal, test, or experiment of some kind.
Origin: The term 'Dry Run' originated in the world of fire fighting, in which firemen would have speed competitions or give demonstrations without carrying water.
Example: "We did a dry run of our presentation before showing trainees."
